

Pikes Peak United Way's Mobile Food Pantry Moving to New Time and Location New location highlights need for food support citywide

Colorado Springs, Colo. – In order to help alleviate hunger throughout our community, Pikes Peak United Way is announcing a new time and location for its monthly food distribution efforts. Pikes Peak United Way's Free Mobile Food Pantry will be moving to Springs Church (1515 Auto Mall Loop) in North Colorado Springs.

The food distribution event will take place on the third Thursdays of each month. The event is open to all with no pre-registration required.

"First and foremost, we want to thank Mitchell High School and District 11 for years of wonderful support, while we are equally thankful for Springs Church for opening their campus to us," said Cami Bremer, president and CEO of Pikes Peak United Way. "This additional location demonstrates that hunger and food instability is not isolated to just one area of our community. The need is just as present as ever, and adding this location will allow us to reach as many residents in need as possible."

Distribution begins at 3 p.m. and continues until 5 p.m. or until supplies run out. In addition to the regular food distributions, community members in need of additional support closer to home are encouraged to check out the Sunny Side Market, located at Pikes Peak United Way's Family Success Center in South Colorado Springs, for free grocery options and household essentials or call 211 to receive additional information on food assistance.
